Acteva to Serve as Primary Sponsor of Craigslist Foundation Nonprofit Boot Camp
Highlights Include Registration Sponsorship, New Venue in New York City

SAN FRANCISCO – June 4, 2006

Acteva, the leader in online event registration and payments, will once again serve as a sponsor at the Craigslist Foundation Nonprofit Boot Camp, Saturday, June 10 at the New York University Stern School of Business in New York, NY.

This will be Acteva's initial sponsorship of the New York event after sponsoring the San Francisco event the past two years. The boot camp is held twice each year, once in the San Francisco Bay Area and once in New York City. "Our decision to serve as a sponsor for this event in NYC was a no-brainer," says Ed Lemire, Vice President of Marketing for Acteva. "It provides a great deal of value for Acteva as an exhibitor and the event is a great resource for nonprofit organizations."

Craigslist Foundation organizers are expecting more than 450 nonprofit leaders and social entrepreneurs as well as more than 30 exhibiting companies. Acteva will be among them, exhibiting in Booth #12, to answer questions regarding their online registration services.
